SAN FRANCISCO.

Thursday, January 10, 1850.

THE ELECTION.

If any evidence were needed of the "progressive" tendency of California to conform itself, in the great matters of life, to those well established usages of "the States" on the Atlantic side, the events of yesterday must have been conclusive to every mind. At an early hour the vicinity of the polls was thronged by scores of anxious expectants, patriotic speechifiers, and eager, energetic "electioneers;" which, together with the presence of placarded wagons, bearing flags and bands of music, for the proper "bringing up" of the tardy or lukewarm precious voters, and the intense showers of rain that graced the occasion, forcibly reminded us of scenes of the like character "at home." The contest was conducted in the very best spirit, the result of which we are enabled to present to our readers, through the exertions of our City Reporter, the following abstract from the Address of Lieut. Governor McDougall, on taking his seat as President of the Senate.

We are happy to lay before our readers, to-day, the Address of Lieut. Gov. McDougall, upon taking his seat as President of the Senate. We can only say, that we regret that it has not been in our power to do this before. It is a brief, but interesting document, and will amply repay a perusal.

There will undoubtedly be many highly important and delicate questions presented to the Senate this winter for their consideration. It would be strange, indeed, if members of that body did not take, and take conscientiously, grounds upon those questions diametrically opposed to each other. To Lieut. Governor McDougall is it given to preside, perhaps, over troubled scenes. Touching this point the address is conceived in a happy spirit. It will go far, we think, towards strengthening that healthy feeling for conciliation and forbearance which should exist in all legislative bodies, and will, we trust, lighten the very delicate task imposed upon the Lieutenant Governor, by virtue of his office.

Gentlemen of the Senate:
In assuming the post assigned me, by the voluntary suffrages of the people of California, you will allow me to say that I much distrust my ability to discharge the duties, under the constitution, which they have so kindly imposed upon me. As the presiding officer of this body, from the want of experience in parliamentary affairs, I may often have occasion to invoke your friendly aid and courteous forbearance. This, I am confident, from the high character you sustain in your respective districts, will be extended to me. In the adjustment of the various questions which will be submitted to your decision, differences of opinion will, no doubt, exist, and when freedom of debate is tolerated these differences may produce excitement, and, sometimes, disturb the harmony of your councils.

Coming from various sections of the republic, and thrown together, in a legislative body, for the first time, it is not to be expected that we will be able to forego our prejudices or change the opinions which have grown with our growth and strengthened with our strength; but I trust we are all actuated by an earnest desire to advance the interest and promote the prosperity of this our new state. Whilst we cherish our own sentiments, let us not forget to treat courteously and kindly those who may differ with us; and, above all, may our deliberations be characterized by that order and decorum so essential to sound legislation.

You are called upon to adopt a system of law, which, whilst it gives the amplest security to persons and property, will extend the blessings of civil and political liberty to all who may choose to come within our limits. You are to form a State, which, I trust, will, ere long, be one of the brightest stars in the Federal Union. Although far from our native States, we have lost none of our attachment to that Union. Let the General Government admit California into the confederacy, and extend to her the right hand of fellowship, and she will be the last to disturb its peace and tranquility—the last to abandon it. A little more than a year has elapsed since we became a portion of the Federal Union, and in that time we see, as the result of American liberty and the science of American government, a State springing up, on the shores of the Pacific, with all the elements of greatness and good government that would add credit to one venerable by example and the sanctity of age.

In looking at the rich and varied resources of our State, which are now being developed—its proximity to countries heretofore but little known in any commercial relations—we can but feebly contemplate the high position, in our relations with the world, that the enterprise and industry of our people will soon place us; and to you, gentlemen, the high power is entrusted of establishing such laws as our new position to the world demands, and to which all are looking with a regardful eye.

Gentlemen of the Senate: Allow me to return to you, and through you to the people of our State, my unfeigned thanks for the distinguished honor they have so kindly imposed on me. It shall be my constant aim to merit the confidence so generously bestowed.

JOHN McDOUGALL.
Pueblo de San Jose, Dec. 20, 1849.

We publish to-day a communication from Justice Colton, in relation to a matter which is exciting much interest in the public mind.

We deem it proper, upon a subject like this, to open our columns, in so far as our very limited space will permit, any brief and temperate statements of fact or law, pertinent to the matter in issue, especially when such statements shall be presented to us with the names or signatures of the writers. But we are compelled to insist upon one condition, which we make known beforehand, namely, that the communications published in our columns shall be brief, strictly confined to the question in issue, and not personally offensive in their language.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 8, 1850.
To the Editor of the Pacific News:
My attention has been called to a handbill, posted about the streets, purporting to have been issued by the "Friends of Truth"—I think it more likely to have come from the Friends of the Old Council. In this handbill my name is used very freely—it charging me with various offences, &c., &c. It is not my intention, nor is it necessary that I should go into a labored defence upon the subject. But a few plain denials, and a few statements of facts, may not be inappropriate.

The insinuation that I have given "dozens of valuable city lots, at $100 each," to single individuals, I pronounce a falsehood. That my appointment was obtained with a view to the granting of these lots, I also pronounce a falsehood. That Mr. Mawes, the Prefect, is in any way, either directly or indirectly interested in these grants, or even knew that they were made, I also pronounce a falsehood.

I was appointed to the office I hold, through the Sub-Prefect, the Prefect, and the Governor, and have endeavored to discharge the duties of the office faithfully, and I have yet to learn that my character can be aspersed by statements on a handbill issued on the eve of an exciting election, and by persons who are either afraid or ashamed to give their names. What I have done, I have done openly and above-board, under the conviction that I was doing right; and I am ready to answer for my conduct, at the proper tribunal. In the position I have taken, I am sustained by the ablest and soundest men in the city, who have investigated the subject; and I believe also, by the great body of the people. I have made "grants" to many individuals—not speculators—of small portions of the public domain, and for a small consideration, in accordance with the Mexican laws and customs. They were given, "subject to the establishment of any prior claim, and to the action of the United States Government." If the Town Council, or any corporation, or any individuals have a prior or better claim, let them show it. Is it denied that the Mexican laws are still in force? Is it denied that it has been the custom for Justices of the Peace to grant lots from time immemorial, to individuals on petition?

As to the moneys received for these grants, I am ready to account to the Town Treasurer for every grant, and to the full amount that the laws require me to pay him. As to the legality of my acts, I am perfectly willing to leave it with the authorities above me to decide. I am, respectfully,

G. Q. COLTON.

Personal Movements.

With regard to the movements of distinguished individuals, we see by our last advices, that Miss Bremer was visiting Marcus Spring, Esq., of Brooklyn. Fanny Kemble was in Baltimore, and crowded houses attended nightly her admirable readings from Shakspeare. Miss Cushman was to appear at the Boston Theatre on the 25th of November, with a "select company" mustered at her own conjuration. We learn, by private correspondence from the States, that she intends making a tour of the States before her return to England, and that she is accompanied by Miss Hays, an English authoress, who is writing a book of travels, to be published in their return. Miss Cushman is to spend the Christmas holidays at the cottage of Mr. Wells, in Roxbury, Mass.

One of the Philadelphia critics says that she has come back from Europe, like Forrest, with one of the nightmares of good acting, distorting each and every thing he had admired and complimented before. She has acquired, he says, "the wringing hand school in which Ellen Tree always appeared as if she were washing out small linen."

Our delightful actress, Mrs. Mowatt, is at the Marylebone Theatre, winning laurels, and Macready is cramming the Hay-market every night. Fanny Ellsler is at St. Petersburg. Jenny Lind has returned to Stockholm, where she met with a hearty reception from her countrymen, the Swedes. She has derived much benefit from the German spas. We regret to learn, that Father Mathew, was at the last advices, quite ill, at the Irving House, New York.

Among the other personal movements, we must not fail, of course to mention, that, previous to the departure of the California mails from the States, the fashionable circles of Boston, were agitated with the report that a change was to take place in the domestic relations of Ex-Speaker Winthrop. Preparations of a suitable character, and on a proper scale were made in due season, and on the 6th of November, the "amiable, beautiful and accomplished Mrs. Wells" became the amiable, beautiful and accomplished Mrs. Ex-Speaker Winthrop.

Apropos, speaking of Mr. Winthrop, the democratic aspirants for the Speakership of the next House of Representatives multiply. Already Messrs. Boyd, of Kentucky, Bayly, of Virginia, Holmes, of South Carolina, McLane, of Maryland, Disney, of Ohio, Wilnot, of Pennsylvania, McClelland, of Illinois, and Cleveland, of Connecticut, are in the field.

The poems and a portion of the correspondence of the late Mr. Edgar A. Poe were in press. Mr. Griswold is the editor of the volume. Mr. Willis was to add an essay on the genius of Poe, and Mr. Lowell a biography. These three generously offered the gratuitous use of their time and labor. The net proceeds of the volume will go to Mrs. Clem, the mother-in-law, and Miss Rosalie Poe, a sister of the deceased.

We notice that Miss Margaret Fuller, "the bright particular star" of the New York Tribune, has been married for nearly two years to a Roman Count, and that she is the happy mother of a thriving boy. Prince Metternich, the great Austrian diplomatist, is now spending the winter at Brussels. Klapka, with others of the refugees of Comorn, is on his way to the United States.

CORRECTION.—Since the publication of the brief remarks of our reporter upon the argument of counsel, in the case of "Lawrence vs. Collier," reported under the "Local Matters" head, in our paper of Tuesday, it has been suggested to us, that the language used, might be construed into an implied approval or endorsement of the strictures, made by the counsel, upon the course taken by one of the parties in that suit. We had no intention whatever, that the language should be so considered, and we should undoubtedly have carefully avoided the publication of any remarks, appearing to us, at the time they were penned, liable to any such construction.

CALIFORNIA STEAM PACKET COMPANY.—A heavy press of advertisements, this morning, prevents us from giving the particulars of the proceedings of a meeting of the citizens, held last evening, for the purpose of organizing the company named above. An adjourned meeting, to consummate the matter, and receive subscriptions for stock, will be held on Saturday next, at 12 o'clock, in the new building one door below "Delmonico's" in Clay street.

From Sacramento.

We have received through the newly established Express of W. R. Woods & Brother, the Placer Times of Jan. 5th. From it we extract the following intelligence relative to the mines:

The Placer.—We have very little information from the mines. From the three Forks of the American River, we have no news, communication being nearly cut off, from the bad condition of the roads. Occasionally a boat comes down from Yuba and Feather rivers, and we learn that miners on those streams do a good business, when the weather will allow them to dig. A gentleman recently from the Mokelumne informs us that he thinks operators on that stream are averaging ten dollars per day. As it seems to be the opinion of those best qualified to judge, that the rainy season is mostly over, and that we shall have an early spring, miners domiciled in our cities will be enabled to get to the diggings much earlier in the spring than was generally anticipated, and as they will probably find the water on the streams receding, they may reasonably expect a protracted season for operations.

MATTERS AND THINGS.

Highway Robbery.—A most audacious highway robbery was perpetrated at an early hour last evening in our streets, while crowds of persons were passing in the vicinity of the outrage. A gentleman, in loaning a sum of money to his friend in one of the public houses, inadvertently exposed his "pile," and was spotted by a scoundrel, who followed him into the street, knocked him down by the blow of a rock, just in front of the Florence Dining Saloon, and deliberately rifled his victim's pocket. As soon as the gentleman recovered from the stunning effects of the blow, he went into a house and pointed out the perpetrator of the outrage to the officers, who arrested him while he was on the point of dropping his booty upon the floor. He gives his name as Brown.

Book Store.—We acknowledge the receipt of "Mrs. Somerville's Physical Geography" from Messrs. Wilson & Spalding's book store. We are happy to have this opportunity offered us of calling the attention of our readers to this little literary nook. Commencing with a few books on a stand out in the open air, Messrs. Wilson & Spalding have gradually increased their stock, fitted up a pleasant little store on Clay street, opposite the police office, and established themselves there. They have exercised remarkable good taste in selecting from the many books which have been offered them for sale, and the consequence is, that many gems of literature may be found ranged upon their shelves. We know of no place where an idle half hour, if such a thing is possible in California, can be spent more agreeably than in the midst of their shelves.

A little steamboat called the Narragus, now lying at Commercial wharf, excites no little curiosity. She was purchased in Cherryfield, Me., by John W. Coffin, of Cherryfield, and Charles Coffin, of Newburyport, at a cost of about $7000 and will be shipped to California, to ply on the waters of the Sacramento. She is propelled by a large wheel at the stern. She has an engine of fifty horse power. —Boston paper.

NOTICE—To whom it may concern. On the 3d inst. at a public sale of Town Property, made by order of the town authorities, a plat of ground was offered for sale that had been granted to me nearly two years since by the former town authorities, and believing my title as good as the present town authorities can give upon the town lands, I therefore protested the sale of my property, and was finally compelled to bid in my own property under protest, to prevent an imposition being practised upon innocent persons; to what an extent the same act may be perpetrated I leave for wiser heads to judge.
